COMMENTS: RECENTLY PAINTED. GENERALLY GOOD.		NATIONAL TRUST OF QUEENSLAND MAY 1977

This study relates to the area bounded by Hale Street, Musgrave Road, Petrie Terrace and Milton Road, and primarily the residential area behind the mixed commercial street frontages of Caxton Street and Petrie Terrace. City Plan 2014 has much of the area zoned CH1 Character Residential.

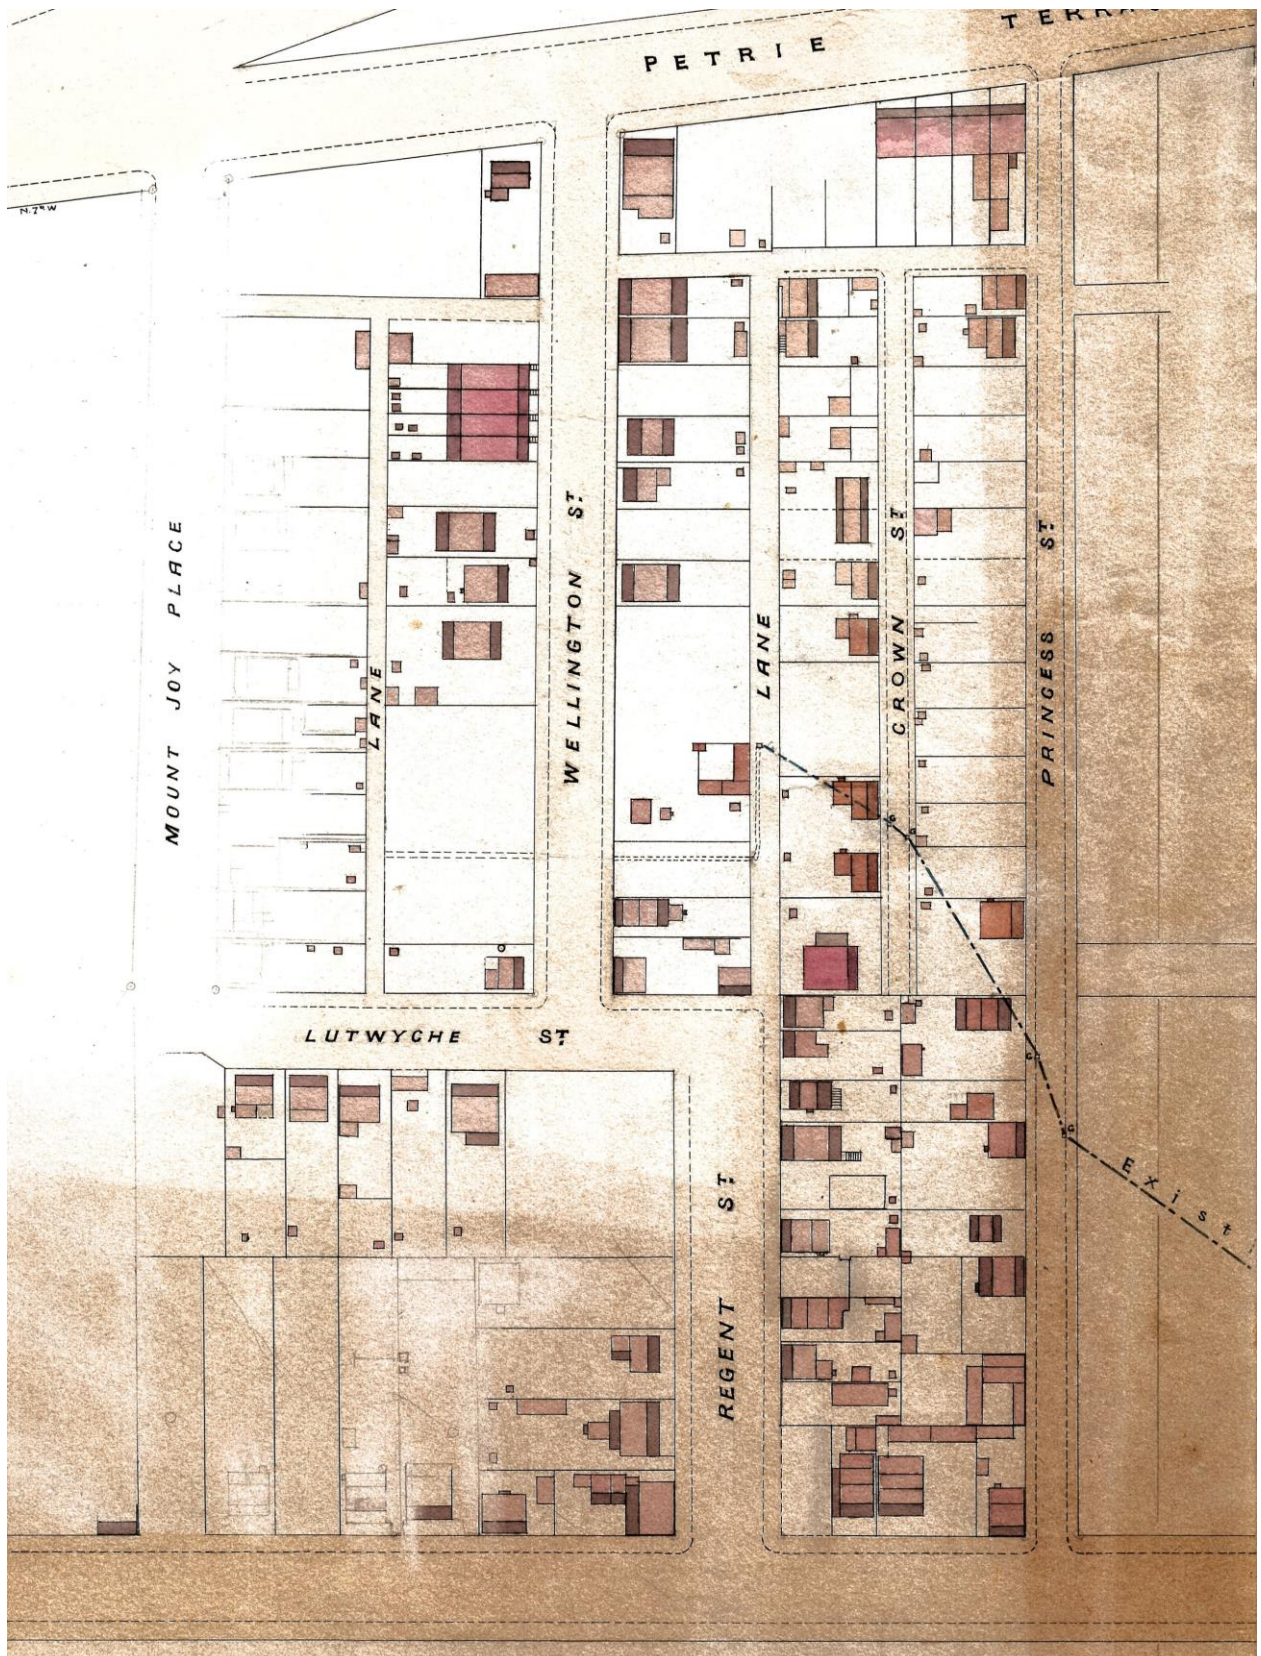

The area was the subject of a field study undertaken by the National Trust in 1977, suggesting they were active in designating this town planning/development constraint. The BHG Research Library has digitised copies of many of the worksheets for each individual property, and photographic prints of some of the buildings and houses from that time. Rod Fisher and his associates subsequently, during the 1980s, returned and photographed the buildings again.

Forty years later we decided it was time for an update, and this set of street albums provides a snapshot of how the houses, predominantly small lot timber cottages, have been adapted for current day living. The area was predominantly working class in the 1970s, however, as with other older city fringe suburbs this has changed over time. It will primarily be of interest to residents interested in the history of their home, and we would welcome feedback, particularly if you would like to share this information in future updates.

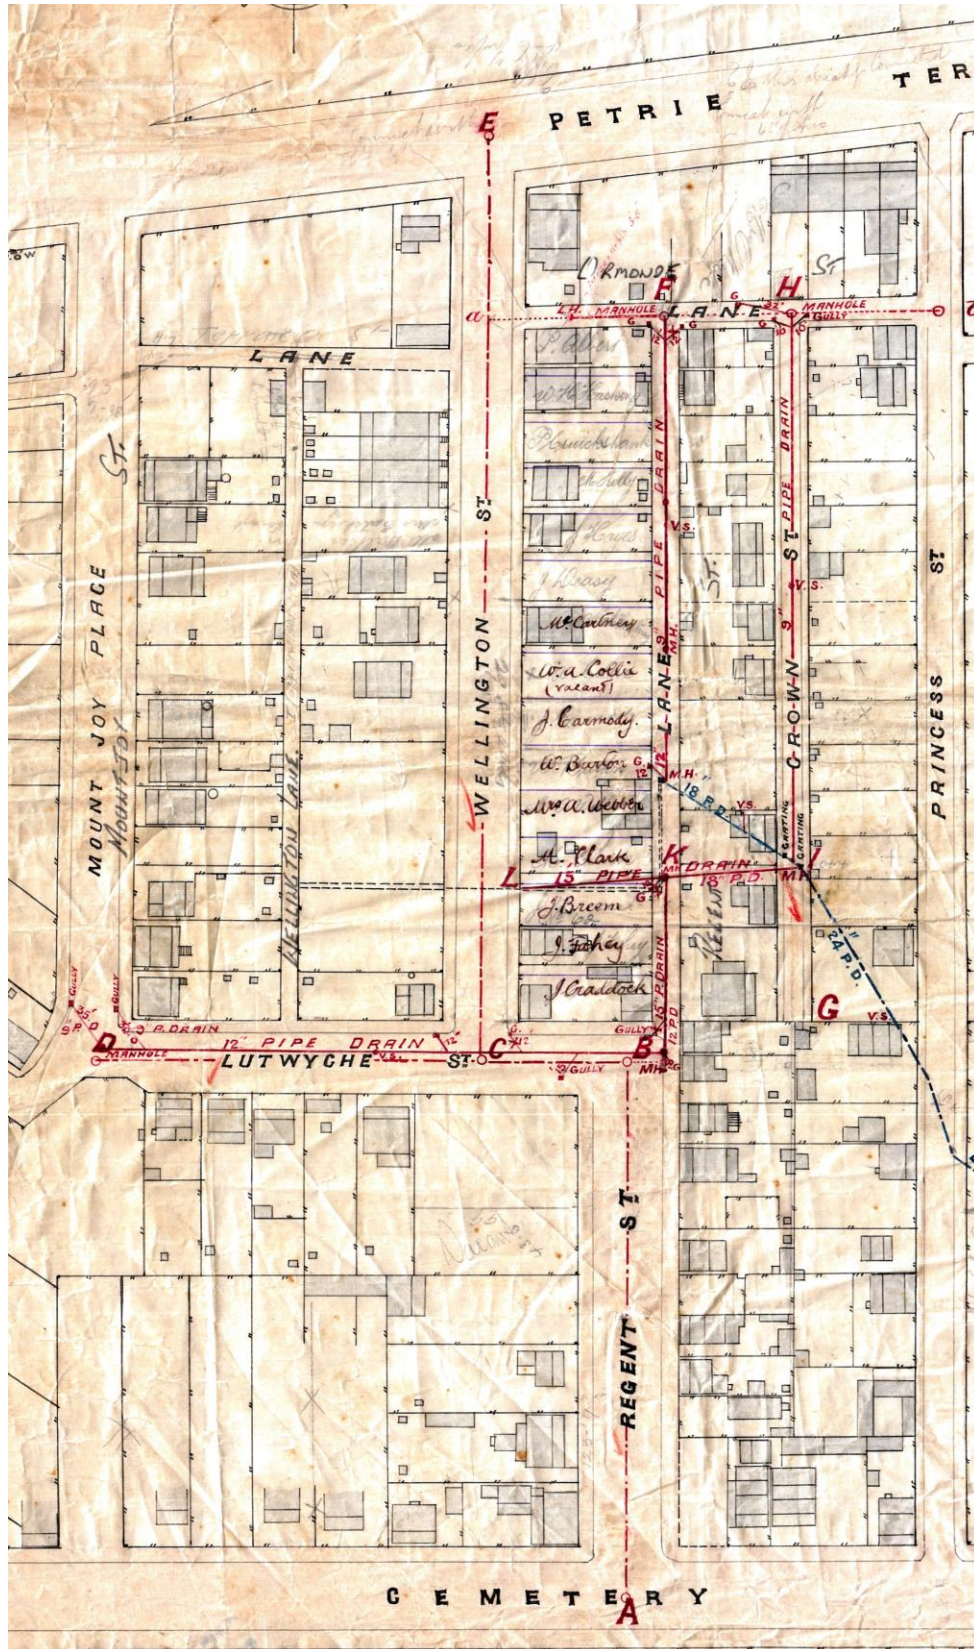

For the albums we have used scanned copies of photographic prints when available, photocopies when not, and digital images for current conditions. A number of the houses photographed in the 1980s included side and rear views which can be made available on request. There appears to have been some renumbering of properties over time – apologies in advance if we have erred.

Your comments and corrections will be appreciated.

Part 1927 Metropolitan Water Supply and Sewerage Board Plan 112
(Brisbane City Archives)

This section of Crown Street was originally a block of land. In 1928 the Brisbane City Council took two and four-tenths perches for an easement and then in 1935 the whole block of land was dedicated to roadway joining Crown Street with Princess Street and therefore allowing an exit out to Hale Street.

28.—Resubdivision A of Subdivision 23 of Allotments 300 and 301, County of Stanley, Parish of North Brisbane, City of Brisbane, containing an area of two perches and four-tenths of a perch, being part of the land described in Certificate of Title No. 323911, Volume 1742, Folio 151, as shown on Plan Catalogue No. 46386.
Registered Proprietors: Margaret Gledhill, wife of Harry Gledhill, and Bridget Falvey, Spinster, as joint tenants.

STOLEN BANK NOTES.—About the month of May last, a box was stolen from the Customhouse at Auckland, New Zealand, which contained £12,215 worth of unsigned £5 banknotes, which had been sent out from England for the use of the New Zealand "Colonial Bank of Issue." The box was afterwards found by Auckland police, and a number of the notes recovered, but a great number were still missing. Information was sent to the various police offices throughout the Australian colonies, advising the police to keep a sharp lookout, because they had reason to suspect that some of the booty had come to Queensland. Among other precautions taken by the police to discover the notes was that of going round to the publicans, shopkeepers, and others, warning them against taking any notes of the kind without communicating with the police, and if possible detaining the person who might tender the notes. In spite of this, however, one of the notes was passed in Brisbane, and several others tendered without the police being able to find out who it was who had tendered them. On Monday last, however, a woman, who, with her husband, has for some time past been living in a small cottage in Crown-street, off Petrie-terrace, and who has been going by the name of Toner, went into the Royal Hotel, called for a bottle of brandy, and tendered one of the missing notes in payment. Mrs. Younge, the landlady of the Royal Hotel, had been cautioned amongst others, against taking such notes, and when the note was tendered, she detained the woman until Sub-Inspector Lloyd could be sent for from the Supreme Court, where he was engaged in the trial of the prisoners Momberger and Schaig for the murder at the Logan. When Lloyd arrived at the Royal Hotel he took the woman into custody, and after some considerable difficulty discovered where she had been living. Late on Monday night, he searched the house, and there found concealed three books, containing a thousand pounds worth of notes each—£3000 in all. The husband of the woman who has been working at the Enoggera Creek Water-works, has been apprehended, and lodged in custody.—Guardian.

NEW BUT WOULD FIGHT

NEW STATUS for Pte Mark A. Uzelin, showing his citizenship papers to his grandmother (left) and mother after he became an Australian at a special naturalisation ceremony in Brisbane yesterday.

"Australia was a bit strange at first, now I reckon it is good enough to fight for," he said before the ceremony.

Seventeen New Australians were naturalised. The ceremony was conducted by Mr. Taylor, SM.

Ten weeks ago Pte Uzelin joined the Australian Regular Army. He is with the 5th Recruit Training Company at Enoggera, and hopes to serve in Korea.

and full rights enjoyed by all Australians.

"But you will have responsibilities, which may entail sacrifice. You must be prepared to give in return."

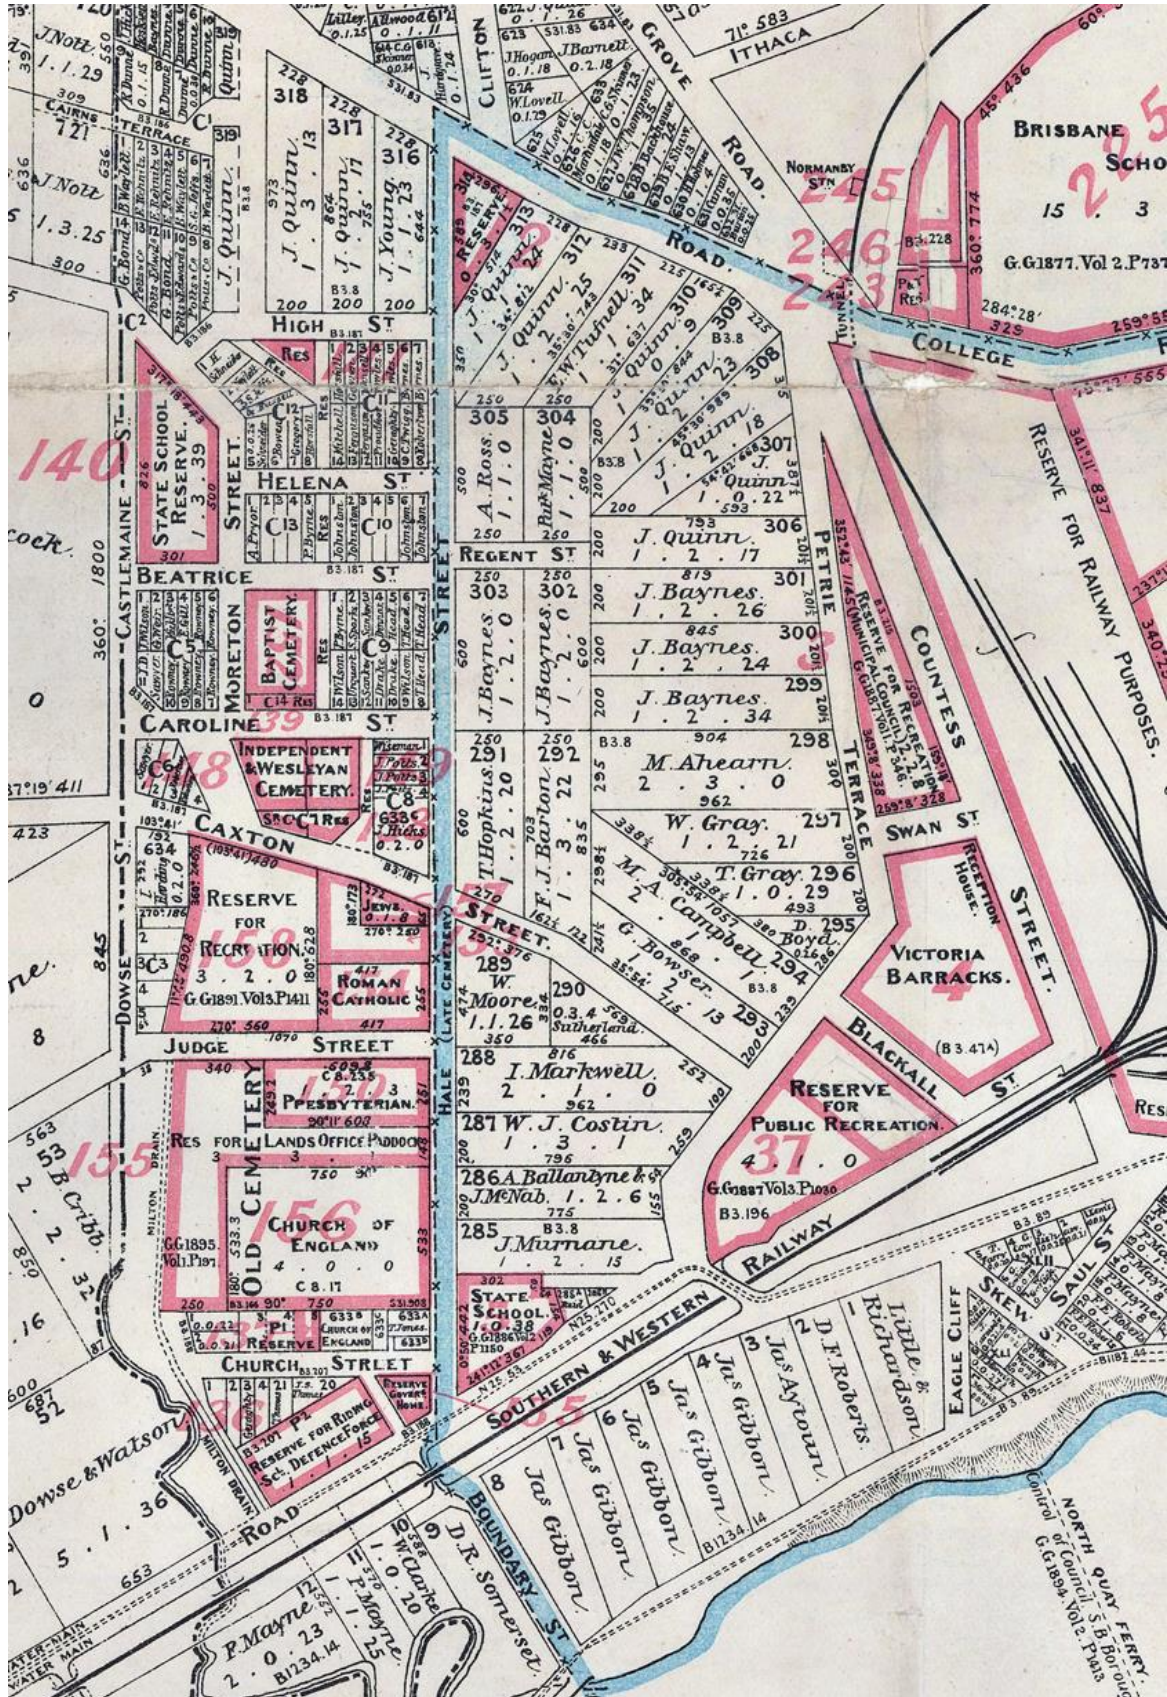

HAVE RIGHTS

Aged 19, he lives in Crown Street, off Petrie Terrace. He is of Russian stock, but was born in Shanghai, where his father was a marine engineer. He came to Australia in 1939 and has been working as a contract excavator.

Mr. Taylor told those naturalised: "You have become Australian citizens and British subjects, and possess freedom of speech, of worship, of assembly,
